About the Weatherhead East Asian Institute

Since its establishment in 1949, Columbia University's East Asian Institute has been a major center for research, teaching, and publishing on modern and contemporary East and Southeast Asia. In January 2003, the East Asian Institute was renamed the Weatherhead East Asian Institute (WEAI) to honor the generosity of the Weatherhead Foundation.

The Institute brings together over 50 full-time faculty, a diverse group of visiting scholars and professionals, and students from the United States and abroad to serve its mission of training new generations of East Asia experts in the humanities and social sciences and to enhance understanding of East Asia in the wider community.

The importance of East Asian Studies at Columbia has been recognized by a wide variety of funding sources, including the U.S. Department of Education, which, since 1960, has designated Columbia University as an East Asian National Resource Center. Through its many programs, conferences, seminars, and publications, the Institute creates an international forum for discussion about cultural, economic, historical, and political issues involving the Asia Pacific region.

The Master of Arts in Regional Studies - East Asia (MARSEA) Program

Under the leadership of Director Madeleine Zelin, the WEAI launched the Master of Arts in Regional Studies - East Asia (MARSEA) program in 1998 to provide students with intensive graduate training in the social scientific study of modern and contemporary East, Inner, and Southeast Asia. Since its founding over 20 years ago, the MARSEA program has helped train hundreds of entry-level and mid-career professionals: diplomats, military professionals, educators, lawyers, and journalists, among others. These alumni are part of a vast network that spans continents and disciplines.

The Institute administers the MARSEA program through the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. The degree program requires completion of a minimum of 30 credits, including a master's thesis and 8 courses from a wide range of offerings in Anthropology, Economics, History, International Affairs, Literature, Law, Political Science, and Sociology. In addition, students must demonstrate proficiency in an East Asian language equivalent to 3 years of modern Chinese, Japanese, or Korean language, or 2 years of modern Tibetan language. Candidates must take the yearlong MARSEA core seminar (total of 2 courses), 2 courses on the modern history of their region of specialization, courses in at least 2 different disciplines, and at least 1 course on an East Asian region other than their region of specialization.

The Master of Arts in Regional Studies-East Asia (MARSEA) is directed by faculty and staff of the Weatherhead East Asian Institute. Their contact information is as follows:

MARSEA Degree Requirements

All students will declare China, Japan, Korea, or Tibet as their region of specialization while in the MARSEA program. In addition, the following requirements must be fulfilled in accordance with Columbia University's Graduate School of Arts and Sciences degree requirements:

<<https://gsas.columbia.edu/student-guide/policy-handbook/requirements-ma-degree>>.

Regional Specialization

MARSEA students must choose to specialize in one of the following: China, Japan, Korea, or Tibet. You will have to show language proficiency, take modern history courses, and write your master's thesis in accordance with your chosen specialization (see below sections for more information).

Required Coursework

- 2 semesters of the MARSEA core seminar (fall and spring)
- 2 graduate-level courses on the modern history (1850-present) of the region of specialization. Comparable work may be substituted with permission from the MARSEA Academic Director.
- 3 graduate-level regional courses
  - At least one course must be a colloquium and/or seminar (not a lecture)
  - At least one of the courses must focus on an Asia Pacific region other than one's region of specialization (courses dealing with the Asia Pacific region as a whole or dealing with relations between East Asia and other countries may count toward this requirement)
  - 1 language course at the 4th-year level or above may be counted toward this requirement
  - These can be chosen from a wide range of disciplines, e.g. Anthropology, Business, Economics, History, International Affairs, Literature and Film, Law, Political Science, Religion, Sociology, and more
- 1 graduate-level elective course, which may focus on any topic of the student's choice and does not have to relate to East Asia
- Students must take at least 30 credits minimum; each graduate-level course is 3-4 credits

Courses That Do Not Count

- No credits from an outside institution will be counted toward degree requirements
- No undergraduate level courses will be counted toward degree requirements (must be 4000-level and above)
- No courses counting toward the degree may be taken for R credit or Pass/Fail (P/F)

Foreign Language Proficiency

MARSEA students must show language proficiency equivalent to having completed Columbia University's third-year level of Chinese, Japanese, or Korean, or second-year level of Tibetan in their chosen specialization. This requirement may be met in one of three ways:

- By providing proof that the language was a substantive part of their previous education (e.g., in high school, undergraduate degree, or prior graduate degree).
- By passing the Columbia University Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures (EALAC) language proficiency exam and receiving a three-year certificate (which is the equivalent of completing two third-year language courses at Columbia) or higher. Incoming students should take the language placement examination at the beginning of the semester in which they enter the program (see below for more information).
- By achieving a grade of B or better in Third Year Level II language course at EALAC during their MARSEA degree.

Language Placement Examinations

The Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures (EALAC), a department separate from WEAL, houses Columbia's programs in Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Tibetan, and Vietnamese languages. EALAC offers language placement examinations at the beginning of every semester for students to determine their language proficiency.

**IMPORTANT: Please note that students can take a placement test for FREE on the dates listed above. Taking the test on a date outside of the designated dates will incur a $50 fee. If you miss your designated testing date, you will likely need to either pay to take a placement test or wait to take the free placement test at the beginning of the following semester.*

MARSEA Thesis

Requirements

The MARSEA master's thesis must be at least 35 pages in length (not including the bibliography) and deal with a modern or contemporary topic in the social sciences that focuses on the Asia Pacific region. It must substantially incorporate discussion of the student's region of specialization, although other countries and regions may be treated in the paper. The use of primary source material is strongly encouraged.

A Thesis Proposal, together with an Advisor Form (signed by the student's thesis advisor), must be submitted one semester before the student submits his or her thesis (i.e. to submit a thesis in the Spring semester, students should submit a proposal in the preceding Fall semester).

Thesis Advisor

Each student works with a faculty member who serves as their Thesis Advisor. As many students choose to expand on a paper written for a seminar course into their MARSEA thesis, the instructor of the course often serves as the Thesis Advisor. Students may, however, work with any faculty member of the Institute, or another Columbia University faculty member or course instructor.

Thesis Proposal

The MARSEA thesis proposal, due in the semester prior to the student's desired semester of graduation (see next page for deadlines), should include the following:

- Title
- 500-word description of the topic, research methodology, and conceptual framework
- Preliminary bibliography

Thesis Formatting

- The final PDF of your thesis should be in 12-point font size (choose a classic Serif font, such as Times New Roman)
- Number all pages
- Double-space all lines, but do not add extra line-space between paragraphs
- Indent the first line of each paragraph by 0.5"
- Alignment: flush left margin (jagged right margin)
- Follow the Chicago Manual of Style. For references, you may use footnotes OR endnotes; alternatively, you may use in-text citations in combination with footnotes or endnotes
- Include full Chicago-style bibliography
- Include a cover page according to the following format:

[Thesis Title]

By [Full Name]

A thesis submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Arts Regional Studies: East Asia (MARSEA)

Columbia University
Weatherhead East Asian Institute
[Month] [Year]

Submission and Review

A PDF of the final thesis must be submitted to the Thesis Advisor and to the Student Affairs Coordinator via email by the appropriate deadline (see below).

Once a student's Thesis Advisor has had time to review the submitted thesis, the advisor will send any comments and the final letter grade to the Student Affairs Coordinator, who, after confirming that the student has satisfied all of their degree requirements, will pass the grade and comments to the students and clear the student for graduation.

For the Application for Degree form, please see Vergil/SSOL.

International Students: All MARSEA international students should have received a three-semester I-20 upon enrollment. If you wish to take four semesters to graduate, please consult with ISSO as soon as possible.

Residence Units

Students are required to complete 2 "residence units" at Columbia University. 1 full residence unit is equivalent to full-time registration for 1 semester. Detailed information on residence units is available here: <<http://gsas.columbia.edu/content/residence-unit-and-other-registration-categories>>.

MARSEA students can choose to complete their program in one academic year (2 full-time semesters, or 2 full “residence units”), 3 semesters (fall, spring, and fall), or a maximum of 4 semesters (two academic years). All students will discuss their graduation timeline with the MARSEA Academic Director and Student Affairs Coordinator at the beginning of their program.

Application for Degree

In order to have the degree conferred, each student must submit an Application for Degree or Certificate. To do so, go to Vergil <<http://vergil.columbia.edu>> and see Student Records.

Course Selection and Registration

“Registration” is the formal process of securing a seat in a class. Before a student may be certified as enrolled in good standing, he or she must also satisfy administrative obligations such as paying prior term bills and demonstrating compliance with New York State's public health law requiring immunity from measles, mumps, and rubella. Please review your pre-orientation emails from GSAS and MARSEA for more information on registration requirements.

You can only register during one of your appointed times. Your registration times can be viewed online on Vergil/SSOL (more information below) and will be assigned prior to registration.

A late fee is charged for those who register for the first time during the first two weeks of the semester. See the Registrar’s website for updated information on late registration fees: <<http://registrar.columbia.edu>>.

Please note: Registration is a time for you to familiarize yourself with course offerings and plan potential schedules. Some courses will already be full with continuing students, and in such cases you should add yourself to the Wait List. In most cases, your schedule on the first day of classes will not be your final schedule.

Course Selection

All incoming students are required to meet one-on-one with the MARSEA Academic Director, Kim Brandt, at the beginning of their first and second semesters to discuss course selection, registration, and their graduation timeline.

You are able to change your course schedule during the Add/Drop Period, which lasts until the end of the second week of classes (see the Registrar’s Office for the most updated schedule).

Course Information

For comprehensive information on all courses, see the Columbia University Directory of Classes: <<http://www.columbia.edu/cu/bulletin/uwb>>. The Directory includes each course’s call number (which is required for registration), the instructor’s name, the date, time, and location, the number of points/credits, whether instructor approval is required for registering, and the department(s) offering the course, among other information.

You can also preview your course schedule by using the “Course Planner” tool on Vergil <<https://vergil.columbia.edu>>. While Vergil is more user-friendly than the Directory in some ways, it sometimes does not have the most up-to-date information (more on Vergil in the next section).

For a list of graduate-level courses with a focus on East Asia across Columbia’s departments, see WEAI’s East Asia Graduate Course Bulletin: <<https://weai.columbia.edu/content/east-asian-courses-graduate-level>>.

Vergil / Student Services Online (SSOL)

Traditionally, students have registered for classes by means of an interactive online system called Student Services Online (SSOL) <<https://ssol.columbia.edu>>. In Spring 2023, Columbia introduced the “new” Vergil <<https://vergil.columbia.edu>> as an updated system that will gradually replace SSOL in these functions; however, as of Summer 2023, Vergil is still redirecting users back to SSOL for most functions. Please be on the lookout for further updates from GSAS and the Student Affairs Coordinators.

Students are assigned registration appointments on Vergil/SSOL. You can also use Vergil/SSOL to view your grades, your schedule, your billing information, your registration appointments, and update your address.

Registration Checklist

Before Registration

- Get the “Call Number” for the courses for which you wish to register on either the Directory of Classes or Vergil Course Planner.
- Check to make sure that you have not selected a course that is below 4000, as no undergraduate courses can be used to satisfy your MARSEA course requirements.
- Contact the relevant department with any questions about courses.
- You may need to obtain signatures from the department or course instructors requiring special approval. Please contact the Student Affairs Coordinator if you need assistance with this process.

During Registration

- Go online to <<https://ssol.columbia.edu>> during your appointment times.
- Enter your University Network ID (UNI) and Password.
- If you log on before your appointment time, the system will remind you of your next appointment.
- Register for your classes.
- Register in a billing category by specifying a full Residence Unit if you are a full-time student in your 1st or 2nd semester of the program. Register for Extended Residency if you have fulfilled the 2 Residence Unit requirement and are entering your 3rd or 4th semester.

Topics Related to Registration

Approvals

To register for courses that require special approval, complete a registration form from the Registrar's Office <<https://www.registrar.columbia.edu/content/registration-adjustment-form-add-drop-classes>> and then contact the course instructor for signed approval. If you have any questions about this process, particularly about cross-enrollment in professional schools such as the Business or Law School, please contact the Student Affairs Coordinator.

Registration Changes

You may make changes to your course schedule during the first two weeks of classes.

Full Classes

It is not possible for the Weatherhead East Asian Institute or the Columbia University Registrar to register a student in a fully enrolled class without the permission of the department and instructor. Students may contact the instructor to be added to the wait list.

Holds

The University permits many offices to place a "hold" against a student's enrollment. The reasons for holds vary from office to office. Financial holds, library holds, and deans' holds are most common.

Non-Online Registration Courses

Most courses are eligible for online registration. Some seminars or independent study courses, which require department or instructor approval, may not be eligible for online registration. To register for these courses you should contact the department and/or course instructor for the proper registration procedure.

Time Conflicts

You cannot take two or more classes whose scheduled times are the same and/or overlap by as little as one minute without the written permission of a Dean and the MARSEA Academic Director.

CourseWorks

After registration and enrollment, students can view instructor posts and syllabi on CourseWorks, which is also the platform through which assignments are sometimes submitted. You can log on at <<https://courseworks.columbia.edu>>.

Cross-Registration

*REQUIRED FOR ALL NON-GSAS COURSES****

Students interested in registering for courses outside of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences (GSAS) may do so through a process called cross-registration. This process varies based on the school, but most often requires submitting an application, seeking approval from the instructor and school, and submitting a Registration Adjustment Form (see below) to the WEAI Student Affairs

Coordinator (Lin King, lin.king@columbia.edu) for signature and then to Registrar's Office. See below for further instructions.

A Registration Adjustment Form is required to add any outside course to your GSAS registration. Please submit this form once you have been accepted into your requested course.

1. Complete the following form: <<http://registrar.columbia.edu/sites/default/files/content/reg-adjustment.pdf>>.
2. Send the completed Registration Adjustment Form to the WEAI Student Affairs Coordinator for review and signature.
3. Submit the signed form via email to registrar@columbia.edu.

In addition to the Registration Adjustment Form, every Columbia school requires you to formally register for their school's courses by following these steps:

School of Business

1. A list of available courses and the online Cross-Registration Application is available at: <<https://www8.gsb.columbia.edu/programs/mba/academics/classes/cross-registration>>.
2. Business School courses are offered as A-Term, B-Term, and Full-Term courses. Fall 2023 A-Term, B-Term, and Full-Term cross-registration applications will open in September.

School of Journalism

1. See a list of available courses and submit the Cross-Registration Request Form here: <<https://journalism.columbia.edu/cross-registration>>.
2. For the most part, spots in J-School classes are assigned to non-Journalism graduate students on a space available basis (with top priority given to SIPA students).

School of Law

1. The Law School will accept requests for cross-registration towards the end of their add/drop period, which is when the application will become available. For more information: <<https://www.law.columbia.edu/academics/registration-services/course-selection-registration/cross-registration>>.
2. All applications require the instructor's approval. To request approval, please email the course instructor and request permission to join the course. We suggest you mention you are in the M.A. in Regional Studies - East Asia, plus a brief summary of your relevant qualifications for the course.
3. If the instructor has granted you approval to join the course, complete the online Cross-Registration Application for Non-Law Students Form. It is required that you upload a copy of the email or any other documentation from the instructor indicating their approval to add you to the course.
4. Registration Services will email you during the Decision Notification period with the results of your application.

Graduate School of Architecture, Planning, and Preservation (GSAPP)

1. View the list of open GSAPP courses posted online at: <<https://www.arch.columbia.edu/cross-registration>>. Please note that open courses will not be posted until the first week of classes.

2. Complete the GSAPP add/drop form here: <<https://apply.gsapp.columbia.edu/register/add-drop>>. Please forward an email stating you have permission from the department/instructor to studentaffairs@arch.columbia.edu along with this form.

Mailman School of Public Health

1. Complete the Cross-Registration Application found on this webpage: <<https://www.mailman.columbia.edu/people/current-students/academics/policy-and-procedures>>.
2. Obtain permission from the Public Health department(s) that offers the course(s) for which you are cross-registering. It is important to note that the process of obtaining permission to enroll in a course as a cross-registrant is approved first by the department then by the Office of Enrollment Management (OEM).
3. Forward your completed Cross-Registration Form, as well as any other email correspondence used in lieu of signatures, to the Columbia Public Health OEM team at: msph-enrollment@columbia.edu.

School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA)

1. View SIPA's list of approved cross-registration courses here: <<https://bulletin.columbia.edu/sipa/registration/#crossregistrationtext>>. Any course listed here may be added per usual via Vergil/SSOL.
2. SIPA Fall 2023 course registration for non-SIPA students will be available from Monday, September 11 - Friday, September 15, 2023.
3. Courses not listed on this site are NOT available for cross-registration. Unfortunately, there are no exceptions.

School of Social Work

1. See a list of available courses and submit the Cross-Registration Add/Drop Form for Non-CSSW Students here: <<https://socialwork.columbia.edu/current-students/forms-documents-library/cssw-cross-registration-adddrop-form-noncssw-students/>>.

School of the Arts

1. Please email the course instructor and request permission to join the course. We suggest you mention you are in the M.A. in Regional Studies - East Asia, plus a brief summary of your relevant qualifications for the course.
2. The School of the Arts instructor or academic department administrators must sign the Registration Adjustment Form used by GSAS: <http://registrar.columbia.edu/sites/default/files/content/reg-adjustment.pdf>.
3. After securing the appropriate signatures email the Registration Adjustment Form to registrar@columbia.edu.

Teachers College

1. Please email the course instructor and request permission to join the course. We suggest you mention you are in the M.A. in Regional Studies - East Asia, plus a brief summary of your relevant qualifications for the course.

2. The Teacher's College instructor or academic department administrators must sign the Registration Adjustment Form used by GSAS:
<http://registrar.columbia.edu/sites/default/files/content/reg-adjustment.pdf>.
3. After securing the appropriate signatures email the Registration Adjustment Form to registrar@columbia.edu.
4. After your registration adjustment form is processed, the Office of the University Registrar will forward your registration data to TC electronically so it is registered in TC's Student Information System (Banner).

Policies and Procedures

Changes in Programs of Study

Students are permitted to make no-fee changes in their schedules during the first two weeks of the Fall and Spring semesters. Any schedule changes after the first two weeks will carry a fee and, in most cases, tuition refunds will not be granted.

A student who wishes to drop courses after the first two weeks of classes or make changes to his or her program of study must obtain written approval from the Academic Director through the Student Affairs Coordinator on a special registration form issued by the Registrar. Failure to attend classes or unofficial notification to the instructor does not constitute dropping a course and will result in a failing grade in the course. Students who drop courses will remain responsible for all tuition charges and any related late payment fees.

For more information about the GSAS academic calendar, please visit the Registrar's website:
<https://registrar.columbia.edu/event/academic-calendar>

Immunization Requirements

All incoming students are required to submit documentation either upon admission or 30 days before registration. Students whose immunization records are not compliant will not be able to register for classes. For more information about the following and other vaccination requirements and recommendations, please visit Columbia Health's Immunization Requirements page:
<<https://health.columbia.edu/content/immunization-requirements>>.

For the most up-to-date information on Columbia University's vaccine requirements, see <<https://health.columbia.edu/immunization-compliance-office>>.

Religious and medical exemptions to vaccination will be provided in accordance with New York State public health laws. Students who are seeking such exemptions should complete the request form available on the Columbia Health Immunization page:
<<https://health.columbia.edu/content/immunization-requirements>>

Measles, Mumps, and Rubella (MMR)

New York State requires that all college and university students enrolled for 6 or more points be adequately protected against measles, mumps, and rubella (MMR). Students born on or after

January 1, 1957, must provide documentation of immunity. (Students born before January 1, 1957, are assumed to have had exposure and need not take further action.) For more information regarding the state law, students should contact the Health and Related Services Immunization Line at (212) 854-7210. Details on methods of documenting immunity are provided on the Columbia Health website, <<http://health.columbia.edu>>.

In very rare cases, a student may be granted exemption from the MMR requirements if he or she submits documentation about a medical diagnosis or religious orientation that precludes further immunization. All letters will be carefully reviewed and considered by the medical director of Health and Related Services. Please note: If you cannot provide evidence that you are immune to measles, mumps, and rubella, you will not be permitted to register for classes at Columbia University and may be charged a fine.

Meningitis

New York State public health law and University policy requires that students must also document that they either have received the meningococcal meningitis vaccine or have declined to receive it. This requirement applies before a student is permitted to register for their first term at Columbia.

Strongly Recommended Vaccines

COVID-19 and Seasonal Influenza Vaccines are strongly recommended but not required by Columbia University for Academic Year 2023-2024. Check the above Columbia Health website for the most up-to-date information. More information on COVID-19 measures can be found on the University's FAQ page: <<https://covid19.columbia.edu/content/faqs-regarding-covid-19-vaccination>>.

Academic Standards

Academic progress is determined by the successful completion of courses. MARSEA degree candidates must maintain a B average or higher and a Grade Point Average of 3.0 to remain in good standing. All courses must be taken for credit. No audited courses or courses taken for R credit or Pass/Fail may be counted toward completion of the degree requirements. Students desiring any of these marks must have written permission from the MARSEA Academic Director. Academic records are reviewed each term to determine whether candidates are making satisfactory progress. Those who do not maintain a satisfactory average may be asked to discontinue their studies.

Academic Integrity

Columbia's intellectual community relies on academic integrity and responsibility as the cornerstone of its work. Graduate students are expected to exhibit the highest level of personal and academic honesty as they engage in scholarly discourse and research. In practical terms, you must be responsible for the full and accurate attribution of the ideas of others in all of your research papers and projects; you must be honest when taking your examinations; you must always submit your own work and not that of another student, scholar, or internet source. Graduate students are responsible for knowing and correctly utilizing referencing and bibliographical guidelines. When in doubt, consult your professor. Citation and plagiarism-prevention resources can be found at the GSAS page on Academic Integrity and Responsible Conduct of Research <<https://gsas.columbia.edu/content/academic-integrity-and-responsible-conduct-research>>.

Failure to observe these rules of conduct will have serious academic consequences, up to and including dismissal from the university. If a faculty member suspects a breach of academic honesty, appropriate investigative and disciplinary action will be taken following Dean's Discipline procedures <<https://gsas.columbia.edu/content/deans-discipline>>.

For the Columbia University Faculty Statement on Academic Integrity please see here: <<https://www.college.columbia.edu/academics/integrity-statement>>

Leaves of Absence

Many reasons may compel students to discontinue their studies temporarily. Students requiring leaves of absence should work with the Student Affairs Coordinator and Academic Director to submit a formal request to WEAI explaining why leave is required. If the request is approved then a GSAS Leave of Absence Form <<https://www.gsas.columbia.edu/content/leaves-absence>> must be completed, signed by the Academic Director, and submitted to the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. When ready to return, a student must notify the Student Affairs Coordinator. A returning candidate may be asked for an explanatory statement about the leave.

If a student's absence from GSAS has been less than 6 Fall/Spring semesters, the student may apply for re-enrollment by completing an application and submitting it to the Student Affairs Coordinator at least 6 weeks before the beginning of classes of the semester in which they intend to return. If a student's absence has been 6 or more Fall/Spring semesters, the student must also submit an update to their admissions statement indicating what they have done during their time away from Columbia, a description of their continued interest in the program, and a proposed timeline for accomplishing the remaining requirements of the MARSEA degree.

Withdrawal and Fees

A student in good academic standing who is not subject to discipline may withdraw formally from Columbia University, if necessary. Withdrawal is defined as the dropping of one's entire program in a given term as opposed to dropping a portion of one's program.

Formal withdrawal is ordinarily allowed only prior to the examination period. Withdrawal means that courses and grades are not listed on the student's record and that the student does not receive any credit.

Any student withdrawing must notify the Student Affairs Coordinator and Academic Director in writing. Approval from WEAI is required for all withdrawals. Once approval has been granted, the student must submit a Withdrawal Form to the GSAS Office of Student Affairs at <gsas-studentaffairs@columbia.edu>. For more information about withdrawal policies and procedures, see the GSAS Office of Student Affairs website <<https://gsas.columbia.edu/content/withdrawals>>.

Until students are notified by GSAS that the withdrawal has been processed, they should assume that they are registered and expected to fulfill their academic and/or financial responsibilities, including completing course work. Please note that Columbia University's health service fee, health insurance premium, application fees, late fees, and special health fees are not refundable.

CU Student Email Policy

All students must create a Columbia email account even if they plan to use another email service as their main email provider. All formal correspondence from Columbia University and the WEAI will be sent to students' Columbia email accounts. Moreover, the University expects that every student will receive emails at his or her Columbia University email address and will read emails on a frequent and consistent basis. According to University policy, a student's failure to receive and read University communications in a timely manner does not absolve that student from knowing and complying with the content of such communications.

Columbia email addresses are linked to every student's University Network ID (UNI), Columbia University's primary identification granting access to digital services and resources across campus. For information about e-mail accounts and to activate your Columbia e-mail UNI, please visit <http://columbia.edu/acis/accounts/create/current.html>.

Students should familiarize themselves with Columbia's Student Email Communication Policies. Unauthorized attempts to gain access to any account or system not belonging to the student on any University system or on any system outside the University network are not permitted. No University system or network may be used for any purpose or in a manner that violates University statutes, policies, or federal, state, or local law.
